And International Patrol Shanghai;
Year Old

ANGHAI, Aug. 13.—Explosion bombs, sporadic machine and rifle fire an encounter between Japanese and United troops today marked the anniversary of the outbreak of the Sino-Japanese war.

Joe made wholesale arrests.

Despite the combined preventive force of 15,000 police and international troops, two explosions shook northern half of the International Settlement. They appeared to be inside the Japanese-occupied area, north of Soochow Creek the settlement proper.

During the first few daylight hours machine-gun and rifle fire was heard in Pootung, industrial area just across the Wangpoo river from Shanghai. The firing appeared to be recent Chinese resistance to Japanese troops in that district who were attacking the area.
An encounter between the three armies and the United States army occurred in the American settlement of the industrial settlement.

The Japanese distributed leaflets and turned over the settlement police.
Milton C. Marvin
an American, played a leading role in the encounter. Patrolling a deep canyon in the United States army came upon a Chinese force automobile in a side street.

Three Japanese, brandishing pistols in the automobile, demanding the Japanese National flag, halted in observance of the anniversary.

Marvin reported he drew his gun ordered the Japanese to sit down. The Japanese trained weapons upon the sergeant.
A marine sentry appeared with automatic rifle and the Japanese fired over their heads.

Call to marine headquarters at 10 a. m. Charles F. B. Price, commanding officer, and other marine officers.

Japanese denied any connection with the Japanese Army or any, so they were taken to a nearby settlement police station.
Yesterday bombs of Japanese terrorists exploded in first demonstration of the anniversary.
Two Chinese were killed and fifteen wounded when terrorists set of two bombs in a Japanese cotton mill in the International Settlement. Two Chinese injured in three other bomb attacks on Japanese property in the settlement.

After one year's bitter warfare in Yangtze Valley, the Japanese invaders have fought their way 500 miles up the river, about 100 air miles from Hankow, the Chinese provincial capital.

Chinese fighting was reported to have begun at Hankow, eighteen miles from Yangtze.

they sold some of their own mem-other products.

The boys looked over about 500 Barred Rock chickens. At 10 a. m. Shinn's, they saw Poland China gilt. Cozier showed the boys their two totted Poland gilts. Norman Evans showed half calf interested them.
Irwin Evans' chickens. Paul

DOG ALMOST ELECTROCUTED
WHEN HE BITES LIVE WIRE

A "pooch" owned by Fred Snively which has been in a dog hospital for a vacation while Mr. and Mrs. Snively were vacationing in northern Michigan, was so elated over his return home Friday that he was almost electrocuted when he grabbed a live wire while frisking around in the rear room of the OK barber shop, where Mr. Snively was visiting for a short time.

The dog saw something near the floor and grabbed it. It proved to be an electric socket and was "hot." The dog wilted, the same as if he had been instantly killed. Some one nearby kicked him loose from the electric current and Mr. Snively carried him to a veterinarian who was out and then he resorted to artificial resuscitation which soon had the dog back to normalcy. Probably hereafter this is one dog that will pay attention to what he grabs. And probably he won't remember it.

Deputy Receives
Life Sentence

CONVICTED OF MURDER OF ELDERLY DOCTOR; TERM
MANDATORY

SOUTH PARIS, Me., Aug. 13.— Francis M. Carroll, former deputy sheriff, last night was convicted of first-degree murder in the death of elderly Dr. James G. Littlefield, for which 19-year-old Paul N. Dwyer is serving a life sentence.

The verdict, returned after nearly six hours' deliberation, carries a mandatory sentence of life imprisonment.

Dwyer, a former sweetheart of Carroll's daughter, Barbara, had also accused the former deputy sheriff of strangling the physician's 63-year-old wife, Lydia.

The jury, which included seven farmers, took the case at 2:14 p. m. and returned its verdict at 7:52 p. m.
It had deliberated continuously except for time spent eating supper.

Once it came in to have portions of testimony read by the court stenographer.

Carroll, white-faced, stood to hear the words that doomed him to join Dwyer behind the walls of Maine's state prison at Thomaston.

Special Prosecutor Ralph M. Ingalls asked for immediate pronoun-cement of sentence.

Mrs. Ruby Carroll, constant in loyalty to her husband, bowed her head and burst into sobs.

Justice William H. Fisher immediately pronounced sentence, sending Carroll to prison to serve at hard labor "for your natural life."

Prior to passing sentence, Justice Fisher, after posing the usual formal questions regarding Carroll's family ties and his war record, asked him if he had anything to say before sentence was imposed.

"Nothing, sir," replied Carroll, "except that I am innocent."

Kangaroo Courts
Banned By Rules

MARKS PASSING OF ERA IN HISTORY OF AMERICAN
JAILS

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., Aug. 13.— (UP)—The famous "kangaroo courts" indigenous to American jail-houses are banned in new rules for county jails issued today by the state Welfare Department.

Kangaroo courts were used by prisoners either to enforce some sort of discipline among themselves or by a group of prisoners to impose their will on others. They also were occasional vehicles of humor staged by prisoners.

Under the new rules every person in an Indiana county jail must bathe at least once a week.

Other regulations compel the county sheriffs to "treat all prisoners humanely but keep proper discipline.
Loud, boisterous or indecent language shall not be permitted." The sheriffs also are instructed to serve prisoners three meals daily of "plain but wholesome food."

Insane persons are barred from jails under the new rules as are minor, and complete separation of the sexes is ordered.

The condition of W. A. Beemer, who submitted to a major operation Friday, was reported fair at the Putnam county hospital Saturday morning.

FINAL ENTRIES
ARE RECEIVED
FOR CO. FAIR

COUNTY'S LARGEST UNDER-TAKING TO GET UNDERWAY
NEXT WEEK

RECORD NUMBER IS ENTERED

Premium List Totals More Than $1,000; Representative County Exhibitors Entered

With final arrangements practically complete, and the last of a record number of entries expected to be filed over the week-end, Putnam county fair officials today could see the climax of their work when the five-day exhibition gets underway next Tuesday, Aug. 16.

Officials were confident that more persons are participating and will exhibit at this year's fair than in any previous one. Putnam county farmers, especially, have shown more enthusiasm, proved by a record number of entries, than in previous years.
The finest stock in Putnam county will be exhibited, they announce.

Carl Arnold, fair board member, said today he believed the cooperation apparent throughout all preparations insures the success of the venture. A premium list totaling over $1,000 will be awarded stock-owners during the exhibiting next week. However, showing of stock at any fair entails an expense which cannot be met should an owner receive one or more prizes.

In light of the entries in the Putnam county Horse Show, slated the latter part of next week, some lively competition is on hand for horse owners. The Horse Show is segregated in two showings—draft horses and saddle horses. The draft horse showing will be open to all exhibitors, while the Saddle Horse Show will feature both open, and competition closed to Putnam county horses.

A wide representation will participate in the horse show, as entries have been received from persons residing in practically every township in the county, including Putnam county's best-known owners.

Entries include the following persons, who will exhibit their horses in the Horse Show, Aug. 19 and 20: Harry McCabe, Crawfordville, widely known stock raiser, whose saddle horses are featured in every competition in this region, and Maynard Grubb, well-known Greencastle exhibitor.

Ray Vaughan of Jefferson township will have an entry as well as May Long, Washington township.
Also included are Joel Dobbs, Marion township, Walter S. Campbell, Greencastle farm implement dealer, owner of a number of fine horses, and Donald Webster of Clinton township.

The northern invasion will feature Dennis Clodfelter of Roachdale and

Three Couples Of Knauers To Celebrate 49 Wedded Years At Unique Anniversary Aug., 14

A wedding anniversary event next Sunday that is unique in its character will be that of three brothers, all sons of the late Clement B. Knauer.
The wives of two of them are sisters.

The observance will be at the home of John W. Knauer, a couple of miles north of Brunerstown, in Madison township. He and his wife, Chris E.
Knauer and his wife, and Joseph A.
Knauer and his wife, will, in that day, observe the forty-ninth anniversary of their marriages. None of these three couples, however, were married on August 14. Chris and his wife, Clara, were married in Kansas, August 7, 49 years ago. John and his wife, who was Laura A. Wiley, daughter of the late William Wiley of Clinton township, were married August 1 in the house which is the present residence of herself and her family, it having been the Wiley home many years ago. Joseph A.
Knauer, whose wife was Sedona Wiley, also a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wiley, were married August 29, forty-nine years ago. Mrs. Wiley is living in Clinton township with one of her daughters.

There are other brothers, C. B.
(named for their father) who lives a half mile north of John W., and George E. Knauer, of Greencastle.
The father of these five men was Clement B. Knauer, whose death occurred in 1903, and whose home was the present residence of the son Clement. The father and his wife were formerly residents of Pennsylvania, and the family settled there, from Germany.

Both Chris and John Knauer taught school, in Madison and Clinton townships. The latter had the present U. S. Senator, Elmer Thomas, for a pupil one school year.

Mr. and Mrs. John W. Knauer are the parents of Stella Millhouse, of Paris, Ill.; Nora Martin, Ferndale; Maude Harney, Ferndale; Jessie Norman, Bridgeton; Ida Knauer, living near the parental home; Olive Dunaven, Stilesville; Dorothy Newgent, Portland Mills; Clarence K. Ferndale, Terre Haute.

Children of Mr. and Mrs. Chris Knauer are Earl, near Mt. Pleasant; Cecil, living north of his father's home; Mrs. Winnie Arnold, near Mt.
Pleasant; and Lorene of Winchester, Hendricks county.

File Action To Dismiss Suits

COURT WILL CONSIDER AC-TION AT SEPTEMBER
TERM

In the suits of Louella Pritchard and Katharine Bridges against Frank Klingersmith, in which heavy damages were asked, the plaintiffs have filed motions to dismiss their respective suits. Action on the motions will be taken by the Putnam Circuit court after it convenes September 26.

Katharine Bridges, in her complaint, which was filed in 1935, said she was the wife of Fred Bridges and resided, at that time, at the Martinsville Country club north east of Martinsville; that in May, 1933, she was driving into the club grounds entrance from state road 37 and her car was hit by the car driven by Klingersmith, inflicting serious injuries upon her. She asked $25,000 damages.

Louella Pritchard said she was with Mrs. Bridges in the car that was struck by Klingersmith's car, and that she received injuries.
She asked $15,000. The suits were filed by Bloomington attorneys.

DOUG CORRIGAN RECEIVES
NEW EXPERIMENTAL TICKET

NEW YORK, Aug. 13.—(UP)— An experimental license for Douglas Corrigan's nine-year-old "flying crate" was issued today by the Bureau of Air Commerce after inspectors had looked over the ship at Roosevelt field.

The license permits Corrigan to fly the ship to various cities which he will cover on a nationwide tour, the aviator said. He gave no indication when he would start the tour.

Earle's Arrest
Request Ignored

PROSECUTOR HOLDING OUT FOR JURY PRIZE OF 'LITTLE NEW DEAL'

HARRISBURG, Pa., Aug. 13.— (UP)—Gov. George H. Earle's request that he be arrested immediately so that charges of graft, extortion and coercion against his administration could be aired in public, has been ignored by District Attorney Carl B. Shelley.

Shelley was holding out for a grand jury investigation of the governor and 13 associates, and Earle was trying to have a friendly legislative committee make the investigation. The legislature, dominated by Democrats, had passed four laws superseding the grand jury and setting up a committee to make the investigation of the Democratic governor but the state Supreme court had created an impasse by forbidding both investigations until it rules next month on the constitutionality of new laws.

The majority of the Supreme court are Republicans, as is Shelley.

Earle took the matter to the public in a radio speech last night.

"I don't want that delay a day longer," he said. "I want the facts, all of them. The district attorney, if he is an honest official and not merely the tool of a corrupt political machine, has the solution in his own hands. He can arrest every one of the accused, present his evidence before a magistrate, and if that evidence stands up the accused can be held for immediate indictment and trial. In that way the accused can face their accusers and the public can learn the facts."

"I call upon the district attorney of Dauphin county to arrest me tomorrow. I call upon him to arrest anyone else whom he accuses of wrongdoing . . ."

25,000 Germans
Under Nazi Oath

PROBE OF ACTIVITIES BY SEN-ATE PROVES BOMB-
SHELL

WASHINGTON, Aug. 13.—At least 25,000 Germans in this country are under oath to support Adolf Hitler, the special House committee investigating un-American activities was told today.

Another 75,000 are willing associates of Nazi-drilled storm troopers, and 400,000 more are sympathizers of Nazi activities, a committee investigator, who himself joined the storm troopers, told the committee.

He pictured the chief aims of the Hitlerized organization as:

Establishment of a powerful sabotage machine.

Maintenance of the vast spy net.
Organization of a compact German minority, around the present bands, to include as many German-Americans as possible.

Efforts to block the congressional inquiry by ordering records destroyed were made under orders of the high command of the Nazi organization, the chief government witness, John C. Metcalfe of Chicago, committee investigator, declared.

He named Fritz Kuhn, leader of the German-American Bund, as chief spokesman for the Nazi movement in this country.

Other high points of Metcalfe's testimony were:

1. That Kuhn told him he had forced the removal of Dr. Hans Luther, German ambassador to the United States, and that he had the power to bring about displacement of any German consular official in this country who did not co-operate with him.

2. That an entire company of the National Guard in Illinois was, at one time, composed of Bund members.

3. That Bund leaders said the Nazis in the United States, like those living under the Hitler regime, are opposed to all democratic governments.

4. That there may be a greater

FRANCE, ENGLAND ON EDGE

Both Governments Sitting Tight, Waiting Next Week's Developments

PARIS, Aug. 13.—(UP)—The government suddenly and drastically tightened its regulations governing visits to Italy today and coincidently took secret measures to reinforce its counter-espionage corps, radio and airplane police and frontier control forces.

All measures taken were a plain sign of the government's deep anxiety at the international situation, including the continued presence of Italian and German troops in Spain, her southern neighbor, and grand-scale army maneuvers to start in Germany Monday.

The tourist ban was a reply, specifically, to restrictions imposed by the Italian government against Italian tourism to France.

After a late night conference with Foreign Minister Georges Bonnet, Premier Edouard Daladier issued an order forbidding Frenchmen to visit Italy except with formal passports bearing special French visas.

The effect was to prevent the departure of an estimated 10,000 men and women who planned to go to Italy this week end in anticipation of the feast of the assumption Monday. They had planned to go with Italian tourist cards or collective tourist passports instead of regular French passports.

The order is effective at noon today. As passport offices are closed until 10 a. m. Tuesday, people who had planned to leave for Italy with tourist cards or collective passports must remain in France.

It was estimated that nine French go to Italy for each Italian who comes to France. Hence the government's order was calculated to deprive Italy of an overwhelming advantage in tourist money.

There had been considerable indignation over the Italian restrictions, imposed Aug. 5, and a foreign office communique called them "measures interfering in the worst way with relations between the two countries."

Fillmore Band
Wins 3rd Place

NEW ORGANIZED MUSICIANS OF MARION TOWNSHIP PLAT-ED OVER SUCCESS

Fillmore was the scene of much celebration Friday evening when Frank Martin and his band marched down Maine street. All towns people turned out to give them a hand.
Only last Wednesday evening the sponsors of the contest invited Mr.
Martin to enter his band. He did so thinking only of the experience the children would obtain from playing in the contest. Members of the band were notified and Friday at high noon the band and more than one hundred residents of Fillmore and community left for Ladoga. There were five bands entered in the contest, Ladoga taking first place, Cloverdale second and Fillmore tying Dover for third place with a score of 88 points, first place being won by 92½ points.

Fillmore community is very proud of their band which was organized by Mr. Martin eight months ago at which time not one of its members had any experience with a band instrument. And only a few were able to read music. It has been through the untiring efforts of Mr. Martin and the constant cooperation of the children that they have been able to accomplish what they have in the short period of eight months. The Five small girls in white uniforms, red capes and hats, who appeared in the city yesterday afternoon, attracted considerable curiosity until it was learned that they were members of the Cloverdale high school band and had hitch-hiked to the city. The band was furnishing the music for the annual Wesley Chapel-Croy Creek picnic which was held yesterday at the Englehart grove south-east of Harmony. Having little to do during the afternoon the girls tired of the picnic and got a ride into the city. They returned to the picnic later to play for the evening program.—Brazil Times.

In camps and meeting halls of the storm troopers the Nazi swastika flag was placed above the American flag. The troopers took their oath, the American flag first in their hands, then the swastika above it, Metcalfe testified under oath.

Even more closely allied with the Nazis than the German-American Bund is a German Bund, composed entirely of citizens of Germany now in this country. It is this group that is directly under oath to Hitler, he charged, though the storm troopers of the German-American Bund take the swastika-topped American flag oath.

In Shanghai today, to combat the situation arising over the anniversary officials of the International Settlement called out civilian volunteer military units, including American and other business men.

These units were ordered to patrol the streets and to hold themselves ready for emergency calls.

Both pro-Chinese and pro-Japanese propaganda squads distributed pamphlets. Police arrested many members of these groups.

Authorities charged Japanese Army cars were used to distribute anti-Chinese literature. Settlement officials said a Japanese plane scattered pamphlets over the western part of the settlement. The pamphlets attacked China's generalissimo, Chiang Kai-Shek.

Officials described the alleged Japanese action as "gravely serious," designed to stir up further disorders among the populace.

TOKYO, Aug. 13.—(UP)—Japanese and Russian field commanders on the Siberia-Manchukuo-Korea frontier have agreed to withdraw 250 yards each from disputed Changkufeng hill and thus establish a no man's land pending diplomatic negotiation of the border dispute, it was announced today.

At the same time, the foreign office announced that it intended to resume negotiations with the Russian government, hoping to prevent future incidents. It was expected that the first step would be conversations on the appointment of a commission to mark the border at disputed points.

Details were received today of the new incident on Sakhalin Island, off the Siberian coast, whose southern half is owned by Japan while the northern half is Russian.

It was alleged that Russian infantrymen, hiding in bushes, fired across the border and wounded two policemen who were escorting a party of civilians, including Ryukichi Teshirogi, a parliamentary leader.

The agreement between the Japanese and Russian troop commanders was reached after 11 hours of negotiations at a "certain white house"—a white washed school house at the foot of Changkufeng hill. Gen. Gregory Shuterin for Russia and Col. Isamu Cho for Japan and a group of their aides met at noon yesterday. At 11 p. m. they had agreed on the following points:

1—A report shall be made to the Japanese and Russian governments of the frontier situation.

2—The Japanese and Russian commanders will do all they can to avoid any violation of truce terms.

3—Both sides will withdraw simultaneously to position 250 feet from the edge of Changkufeng hill.

It was expected that the commanders would meet again today to sign a map showing their new positions.

They agreed unofficially to cooperate in searching for and burying bodies of men slain in the recent fighting.

Home Ownership Easy Under FHA

PAMPHLET AVAILABLE GIVING STEPS NECESSARY FOR POSSESSION

The simplicity of achieving home ownership under the FHA plan is emphasized in a new pamphlet just issued by the Federal Housing Administration.

The first step in building or buying a home under the plan, the pamphlet points out, is for the borrower to decide how much he can afford to invest. Generally speaking, his income should be at least four or five times the amount of the monthly loan payment. In other words, the total home investment should not be more than two or two and one-half times the borrower's annual income.

The next step is to decide on the type of home best suited to his needs, including the number of rooms, location, etc. The Administration suggests the borrower talk things over with a local architect, builder, or real estate firm. In this manner he will receive practical suggestions that will help clarify his ideas.

When the rough plan and a tentative estimate is prepared, the borrower should then apply for a Federal Housing Administration insured mortgage at any approved lending institution. In this connection the Administration advises that the lender should be taken fully into the borrower's confidence and appraised of the amount of his income and his current expenses. It is necessary for the lender to have this information, it is pointed out, so that he can arrange payments within the borrower's means.

The amount of the loan, repayment period, charges, and other specific details of the transaction are matters to be arranged between the borrower and lender, but the lender must be guided by Federal Housing Administration limits—that is, up to 80 or 90 per cent of the appraised value of the property and up to 20 or in some cases 25 years for payment, with top interest charges of 5 per cent plus one-fourth or one-half of 1 per cent for mortgage-insurance premium.

The down payment does not necessarily have to be met in cash. A building lot may be accepted as all or part of the down payment.

At the time the loan is made the borrower will be asked to provide money for the year's taxes, assessments, and fire insurance. This is somewhat sooner than in the case of an ordinary loan, but the borrower gains the satisfaction of knowing that all bills in connection with the property are paid up to date and insurance written for at least a year in advance when actual payments begin on the Federal Housing Administration insured loan.

Home Hints

Bathtubs which are set in recesses are featuring doors at the side which open to reveal shallow shelves, convenient for storing soap, lotions and similar articles. Mirrors on the inside of the doors make it convenient for a person to reach from the tub and locate the desired article.

Treatment of interiors, if not ever-changing, at least is hardly ever static. Moods and periods are embraced, and then after a short time or a longer interval they become outmoded and are discarded. Quite often

New Filling Station Completed Here

Above is pictured the new Moon's Standard Service station at Jacob street on north Jackson. The station, modern in design and equipment, was completed late last week, opening for business to the motoring public at that time. The up-to-date station is conveniently located on State road 43 in this city. Larue Moon, who has had many years experience in the filling station business, has complete charge of the new local station.

the new is but a re-adaptation of some scheme or decoration that has previously enjoyed popularity. Today leading motifs for decorating the interiors of homes are: Regency, Swedish, Modern, Exposition Modern, Colonial, Victorian, Eighteenth Century French and Eighteenth Century English.

Highly decorative wood paneling is made from the Florida cypress. This wood is treated to give a warm, mellow tone.

Many wallboards are rated as "fire-resisting," with any variation in the rating due to the materials used and the thickness of the boards. Before purchasing, ask the dealer which boards are fire-resisting, if you are interested in securing fire-proof wallboard.

A lavatory can be built in a 5'x5' space, but the location of door and window will determine the effectiveness of the room.

Rooms where the plaster has cracked and become disfigured can be readily restored to beauty by the use of wood-veneer wallboard. The veneer comes in many types of wood, including pine, walnut and mahogany, as well as many others. Wallboard is easy to put in place and gives satisfaction in wear as well as in appearance.

In general, a hanging or a central fixture located in the center of the room and over the dining-room table is very satisfactory in illuminating a dining room. Indirect lighting has also many advantages.

When cold-water pipes in the cellar drip water, they should be covered with insulation material. The dripping is due to condensation.

Dampness that gets into the outside wood covering either through cracks in the outside or from dampness from the inside of the walls causes paint on the outside of a house to blister.

Walls of concrete blocks below grade can be waterproofed by applying two or more coats of cement plaster, each coat about three-eighths inch thick. An exposed wall of concrete blocks above grade can be waterproofed by either applying two or more coats of cement plaster, as above described, or by painting with at least two coats of cement paint properly applied. The quality of the concrete blocks themselves, whether dense or porous, will determine the type of waterproofing to be used.

When non-liquid fuel is used in either commercial buildings or multi-an automatic stoker will effect a considerable savings, as well as assure a uniform heat at all times. Under the amended National Housing Act funds may be obtained for the purchase and installation of automatic stokers from lending institutions insured by the Federal Housing Administration on generous terms.

The use of flush-surfaced doors on kitchen cabinets and cupboards will expedite the housewife's job of keeping the room spick and span. The old type of paneled door frequently gathered dirt and dust and was harder to clean.

Woodwork that has not been sufficiently seasoned frequently shrinks and joints open at the corners of windows and door frames. This can be corrected by filling the opening with tinted putty or wood putty to match the natural finish of the woodwork. Open joints also often appear between the bottom of a baseboard and the flooring and are notorious dust catchers. An easy way to overcome this is to close the opening with quarter-round molding.

DARK TONE WALLS MAKE ROOM LOOK COOLER

When the weather is hot there is very little that can be done by the interior decorator to make it any cooler, but a wise choice of wall finish will at least make a room look cooler.

Pattern and texture, as well as color, influence the amount of light and the seeming degree of warmth or coldness in a room, according to decorating authorities. The darker colors are said to absorb more light and make a room seem cooler and more restful.

This effect may be obtained by using dark green, blues, tans, browns and deep red. Wallpapers with glossy finishes, such as the varnished papers used in bathrooms and kitchen-ens, emphasize the "cool" qualities in a room. Light colors reflect more light and are used when the decorator wants to give warmth to a room.

OUTMODDED PARLOR MAY BE JOINED WITH LIVING ROOM

A living room should be all that the name implies. It should be cheerful, comfortably equipped, well lighted and ventilated, and large enough to accommodate the entire family. In many existing houses built a number of years ago the front of the house was divided into two rooms—the living room and parlor.

The parlor was usually a coldly formal room that was seldom used and that gradually fell into disuse. Where such a room exists a modernization project that throws the living room and the parlor into one large useable space will be appreciated by the entire family and will enhance the livability of the downstairs of the home.

All that usually needs to be done is to remove the separating wall between the rooms. It may be a wide doorway may seem to be an appropriate way of making the change. If so, part of the old wall may be left standing, arched or finished with a wood frame and decorated to stimulate columns.

FUNDS FOR CONSTRUCTION OF NEW POULTRY HOUSES

Among the many farm additions and improvements that can be financed under the Federal Housing Administration Farm Program is a new poultry house.

Funds to construct a henry may be obtained from private lending institutions operating under the FHA plan either by means of a property improvement loan or as part of the proceeds of an insured mortgage. Full information as to the requirements under these loan plans may be obtained from local lending institutions.

In building a new poultry house, care in selecting the site is of importance. The structure should not be crowded near other farm buildings if it can be located elsewhere.

Poultry experts recommend the henry be situated on a sloping site which has light, sandy, or gravelly loamed soil.

Play Major Roles in "Morals" Murder Trial

These persons play the major roles in the "morals" murder trial at

Paul Dwyer, 18, former "sweetheart" of Carroll's daughter, Barbara,

War soldiers as they marched in 1917.
While the new film has a war scenes but attacks the problem from the inside, showing the loves of three people in various walks of life.

Margaret Sullivan does her finest emotional acting as the girl with a hard-boiled past who married a na-

James Stewart is seen as the be-

Local squirrel hunters, who took to the woods Wednesday morning in quest of the bushy-tailed rodents, are not bragging of their accomplishments in the way of killing them. Squirrels are rather scarce this season, and packed away in their compact little brains is a store of wisdom regarding the best methods to avoid the hunters, accumulated through many preceding generations of forefathers and foremothers, and handed down from the old folks to the younger ones.

GOOBER CAKE

If you live in Ol' Virginia you don't need to be told what a Goober Cake is. But if you're a native of the north or the far west, you'll be interested in adding this bit of information to your knowledge of food things—Goobers are nothing more or less than peanuts. So a goober cake is a peanut cake and this particular peanut—or goober—cake is made from crunchy, salted peanuts with the little red husks left on.
It's an inexpensive cake that rates high with the children. They are willing and glad to eat it as is. But I think most of us would enjoy it more when it's covered with a luscious creamy caramel icing and as a further recommendation let me add that this inexpensive Salted Peanut Cake can be made with sour milk. Here is the recipe—

Salted Peanut Cake

$\frac{3}{4}$  cup shortening 1 cup sugar
1 egg
1 $\frac{1}{2}$  cups cake flour

1 tsp. soda
 $\frac{1}{2}$  tsp. salt 1 cup sour milk or buttermilk 1 cup coarsely ground salted peanuts (with brown hulls left on)

Cream shortening, add sugar gradually, and cream thoroughly.
Blend in well beaten egg. Sift flour once before measuring. Sift flour, soda and salt together and add to creamed mixture alternately with the sour milk or buttermilk. Blend in ground peanuts. Pour into well greased and floured 8-inch square pan. Bake 45 minutes in a moderate oven, 350° F.

Caramel Icing

Mix together 1 $\frac{1}{2}$  cups brown sugar, 4 tbsp. cream, 2 tbsp. butter and 1 tsp. vanilla. Boil 3 minutes, stirring constantly. Remove from heat and continue beating until creamy. If the icing seems to stiffen too quickly, thin it a bit with cream. Carefully add only  $\frac{1}{2}$  tsp. at a time. . . . to avoid making icing too runny to handle.

Betty Crocker Advises

Question: What kind of sugar is best for cakes, cane or beet sugar?
Answer: Either beet or cane sugar may be used with equally good results. The principal thing is to see that the sugar is finely granulated. A coarse sugar will never give you as fine a texture.

Question: Sometimes when I'm making a cake, the batter seems to sort of separate and get curdled-looking. Will this have any bad effect on the cake?

Answer: If your batter separates in this way, the cake will not have as fine a texture. If you see the slightest tendency toward separating, quickly add more of your flour mixture. Don't add too much liquid at a time. In adding the flour and liquid, stir in some of the flour first, then add a little liquid, and so on alternately, being careful to add some of the flour last.

Question: Just what does it mean by "folding in" the egg whites?
Answer: Folding is a different motion from stirring, and blending is not quite definite enough. When we "fold" the fluffy beaten egg whites into a cake batter we drop them onto the batter, then cut down through the batter with the edge of a spoon, turn it and bring it up alongside of the bowl and fold some of the batter over the egg whites; then turn the spoon and cut down again, etc. Continue this very gently until the fluffy air-laden egg whites are completely distributed through the batter. The correct and complete name for this process is to "cut and fold."

here.

Harry Pierson received word this week of the death of his brother's squirrel hunting was a very paying sport, both red and gray species having representation here. In those days, if one were to go back half a century or so, some farmers had to reduce the squirrel population in order to save their grain crops.

Those older hunters scorned to use a shotgun in their squirrel hunting.
A rifle was their only weapon, and the discriminating ones among those men and boys aimed for the head only, usually throwing away squirrel which had been hit in the body, as being unfit for food. Some of the most particular of these Nimrods even went so far as to refrain from hitting the squirrel at all, aiming, instead, at the limb under the animal's feet, which, when struck by a bullet, was so jarred by the impact that the squirrel was stunned and fell from the limb, without a mark upon it.

It is recalled that when Norman Nunn, an old-time giant among the residents of Mill Creek township, who was a blacksmith, threw away a rifle which he had just completed because the bullet he fired from it hit a squirrel's body instead of its head. It made him mad. Nunn, in order to intimidate his enemies among the people of his neighborhood, manufactured a cannon from a black gum tree log, banded it with iron, loaded it with scraps of iron, such as horse shoe nails, and then dared them to come and get him.

BRANDING IRONS HARK
BACK TO OLD WYOMING

CHEYENNE, Wyo., (UP)—The evolution of the cattle industry in Wyoming is portrayed by a collection of more than 50 branding irons in the possession of the Wyoming Stock Growers Association.

The branding irons were collected over a period of many years by Russell T. Thorp, secretary of the association.

Each iron carries the brand of a pioneer Wyoming cattle outfit. Most of them were operating in the region before it became a state or territory and were all used before the turn of the century.

Wyoming's oldest brand on record is that of John Walker Myers. It was recorded in 1857 and is still employed by Charles Myers, who ranges cattle in the Evanston region. The iron was handed down through three generations after J. B. Long of Salt Lake City invented it. It is known as the "Yoke 9." Part of it was taken from the Hook-M in the Pitman system of shorthand.

A branding iron in the form of a boot was found at the site of old Fort Laramie.

Secretary Thorp's own brand is an odd design which he called the "revolving H". Another of the few brands in the collection which have been in continuous use

"Bar" which Col. C. F. Co-the first cattle he rang lins.

The collection includes used by the first who establish a permanent Wyoming. Mary E. Co-known as the "bug" and in 1884.
